collection in eastern european inland fisheries and in particular the western balkan region based on the methodologies and approaches used in countries throughout europe and from fao experience of inland fisheries in other regions they provide guidance on the options available to inland fishery managers based on particular circumstances i e commercial fishing or recreational use and they are especially relevant for assisting the economies in transition in europe caucasus and central asia these guidelines are not an overarching work on inland fisheries management nor do they provide advice on the environmental aspects or competing uses of inland water bodies they focus on issues of data collection to support fishery managers whether they be government agencies fishers or angler associations co responsible for the management of inland resources in european rivers and lakes

The Common Good and Environmental Governance for the Support of Life

the ongoing environmental crisis has given rise to grave concerns everywhere and a number of authors have approached this topic from various disciplines and points of view proposing different strategies to address and correct the situation a major problem however is presented by the role and possible efficiency of existing legal regimes most of which do not consider seriously the ecological problems that are the basis of most of the global problems that beset us in 2015 italy hosted the 2015 expo of milano an important fair that attempted to address some of these major issues primarily the availability of safe food and water and the legal regimes that govern their distribution the conference that resulted in this volume took place at the university of parma an old university in a city roughly one hour away this volume discusses a variety of environmental and ecological issues from the standpoint of existing legal instruments with a primary focus on the necessity for ecologically oriented governance in order to mitigate and redress a situation that at present supports multiple human rights violations expert analysis of american governance challenges and recommendations for reform two big ideas serve as the catalyst for the essays collected in this book the first is the state of governance in the united states which americans variously perceive as broken frustrating and unresponsive editor james perry observes in his introduction that this perception is rooted in three simultaneous developments government s failure to perform basic tasks that once were taken for granted an accelerating pace of change that quickly makes past standards of performance antiquated and a dearth of intellectual capital that generate the capacity to bridge the gulf between expectations and performance the second idea hearkens back to the progressive era when americans revealed themselves to be committed to better administration of their government at all levels federal state and local these two ideas the diminishing capacity for effective governance and americans expectations for reform are veering in opposite directions contributors to public service and good governance for the twenty first century explore these central ideas by addressing such questions as what is the state of government today can future disruptions of governance and public service be anticipated what forms of government will emerge from the past and what institutions and structures will be needed to meet future challenges and lastly and perhaps most importantly what knowledge skills and abilities will need to be fostered for tomorrow s civil servants to lead and execute effectively public service and good governance for the twenty first century offers recommendations for bending the trajectories of governance capacity and reform expectations toward convergence including reversing the trend of administrative disinvestment developing talent for public leadership through higher education creating a federal civil service to meet future needs and rebuilding bipartisanship so that the sweeping changes needed to restore good government become possible contributors sheila bair william w bradley john j diiulio jr angela evans francis fukuyama donald f kettle ramesh krishnan paul c light shelley metzenbaum norman j ornstein james m riccucci paul r verducci paul a volker catholic social teaching s traditional opposition to brain drain migration from developing to developed countries is due for a reassessment stepping out of the brain drain provides exactly this as it demonstrates that both the economic and the ethical rationales for the teaching s opposition to brain drain have been undermined in recent years and shows how the adoption of a less critical policy could provide enhanced opportunities for poor countries to accelerate their economic development
