we shall examine the validity of 16 experimental designs against 12 common threats to valid inference by experiment we refer to that portion of research in which variables are manipulated and their effects upon other variables observed it is well to distinguish the particular role of this chapter it is not a chapter on experimental design in the Fisher 1925 1935 tradition in which an experimenter having complete mastery can schedule treatments and measurements for optimal statistical efficiency with complexity of design emerging only from that goal of efficiency insofar as the designs discussed in the present chapter become complex it is because of the intransigency of the environment because that is of the experimenter's lack of complete control
