achievement in medical research is usually a team effort where ideas are shared where friendship and love sometimes matter most and serendipity is as important as a will to succeed and where over time the least expected thing sometimes becomes the most important in vilcek s case the vaunted cure for cancer that many saw in tnf never materialized however out of the ashes of that hope came many related treatments that have changed countless lives and alleviated much suffering

We the People 1932-01-01 when professional baseball returned to brooklyn in 2001 fans were jubilant and the media swarmed after losing the brooklyn dodgers to california 44 years ago brooklyn baseball fans could once again claim a team of their own the cyclones a class a affiliate of the new york mets the brooklyn cyclones hardball dreams and the new coney island recounts that first season of the cyclones from the construction of the incredible keyspan park at coney island to their improbable successes on the field ben osborne tells the story of the cyclones delicate first year of operation we see the story up close and personal through the eyes of two very different young men the first is anthony otero who was raised in a coney island housing project and loves baseball but has never seen a game in person until the cyclones land in his neighborhood the second is brett kay a young man from california who has never been to new york until he becomes the catcher for the brooklyn cyclones from the plans of politicians like rudy giuliani and howard golden to the poverty of coney island s citizens the brooklyn cyclones reveals the stories behind the headlines to show that the reality of creating a new sports team often involves broken promises and shattered dreams osborne includes chapters on the cyclones rivalry with the staten island yankees the cyclones chances of capturing the new york penn league title and an epilogue updating kay s otero s and the cyclones progress through the 2003 season ultimately ben osborne shows how for these two young men the brooklyn cyclones created dreams the same way the brooklyn dodgers allowed the boys of flatbush to dream about one day playing in the big leagues

The Brooklyn Cyclones 2004-04-01 the many questions that surround movements for secession and self determination are both practically urgent and theoretically perplexing the united states settled its secession crisis in the 1860s but the trauma and unfinished business of those events are still with us around the world secession and self determination are the key issues that cause strife and instability this volume provides an unusually comprehensive consideration of the many challenges of law and political philosophy that accompany them and offers theoretical insights that provide guidance for policy among the questions considered are should the international community recognize a right to secede and if so what conditions must be satisfied before the right can be asserted should secession and its conditions be recognized within domestic constitutions secession is the most extreme form of political separation and there are modes of self determination short of it including indigenous peoples self government and minority language rights to what degree can these intrastate autonomy arrangements help ameliorate the injustices faced by indigenous groups

Secession and Self-Determination 2003-12-01 blackness as a concept is extremely fluid it can refer to cultural and ethnic identity socio political status an aesthetic and embodied way of being a social and political consciousness or a diasporic kinship it is used as a description of skin color ranging from the palest cream to the richest chocolate as a marker of enslavement marginalization criminality filth or evil or as a symbol of pride beauty elegance strength and depth despite the fact that it is elusive and difficult to define blackness serves as one of the most potent and unifying domains of identity god and blackness offers an ethnographic study of blackness as it is understood within a specific community that of the first afrikan church a middle class afrocentric congregation in atlanta georgia drawing on nearly two years of participant observation and in depth interviews andrea c abrams examines how this community has employed afrocentrism and black theology as a means of negotiating the unreconciled cultures of thoughts and the ways in which first afrikan s construction of community is influenced by shared understandings of blackness and probes the means through which individuals negotiate the tensions created by competing constructions of their black identity although afrocentrism operates as the focal point of this discussion the book examines questions of political identity religious expression and gender dynamics through the lens of a unique black church

God and Blackness 2014-03-21 as the world grapples with issues of religious fanaticism extremist politics and rampant violence that seek justification in either religious or secular discourses women who claim islam as a vehicle for individual and social change are often either regarded as pious subjects who subscribe to an ideology that denies them many modern freedoms or as feminist subjects who seek empowerment only through rejecting religion and adopting secularist discourses such assumptions emerge from a common trend in the literature to categorize the secular and the religious as polarizing categories which in turn mitigates the identities experiences and actions of women in islamic societies yet in actuality muslim women whose activism is grounded in islam draw equally on principles associated with secularism in an islam of her own sherine hafez focuses on women s islamic activism in egypt to challenge these binary representations of religious versus secular subjectivities drawing on six non consecutive years of ethnographic fieldwork within a women s islamic movement in cairo hafez analyzes the ways in which women who participate in islamic activism narrate their selfhood articulate their desires and embody discourses in which the boundaries are blurred between the religious and the secular

An Islam of Her Own 2011-04-11 a bold and contemporary discourse of the intersection of disability studies and queer studies crip theory attends to the contemporary cultures of disability and queerness that are coming out all over both disability studies and queer theory are centrally concerned with how bodies pleasures and identities are represented as normal or as abject but crip theory is the first book to analyze thoroughly the ways in which these interdisciplinary fields inform each other drawing on feminist theory african american and latino a cultural theories composition studies film and television studies and theories of globalization and counter globalization robert mcruer articulates the central concerns of crip theory and considers how such a critical perspective might impact cultural and historical inquiry in the humanities crip theory puts forward readings of the sharon kowalski story the performance art of bob flanagan and the journals of gary fisher as well as critiques of the domesticated queerness and disability marketed by the millennium march or bravo tv s queer eye for the straight guy mcruer examines how dominant and marginal bodily and sexual identities are composed and considers the vibrant ways that disability and queerness unsettle and re write those identities in order to insist that another world is possible

New York City 2002-09 part of the american literatures initiative series american arabesque examines representations of arabs islam and the near east in nineteenth century american culture arguing that these representations play a significant role in the development of american national identity over the century revealing largely unexplored exchanges between these two cultural traditions that will alter how we understand them today moving from the period of america's engagement in the barbary wars through the holy land travel mania in the years of jacksonian expansion and into the writings of romantics such as edgar allen poe the book argues that not only were arabs and muslims prominently featured in nineteenth century literature but that the differences writers established between figures such as moors bedouins turks and orientals provide proof of the transnational scope of domestic racial politics drawing on both english and arabic language sources berman contends that the fluidity and instability of the term arab as it appears in captivity narratives travel narratives imaginative literature and ethnic literature simultaneously instantiate and undermine definitions of the american nation and american citizenship
